

Abstract

Coated platelet-shaped carrier material composed of an inorganic substrate provided with at least one coating, each layer comprising at least one cured melamine-formaldehyde resin or being composed of such a resin, and also a process for preparing the coated carrier material and its use as effect pigment.